THE CUSTER SLAUGHTER

THRILLING ACCOUNT YB TRAPPER RIDGELY.

A Revolting Tale of Inhuman Atrocities.

Soldiers Burned at the Stake, and Red Hot Arrows Discharged into their Quivering Bodies

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

MINNEAPOLIS, September 7.—The Pioneer Press and Tribune will to-morrow publish an interview had with an old trapper named Ridgeley, who has been a long time in the Yellowstone country and claims to have witnessed the Custer massacre, having been a prisoner in Sitting Bull's camp and seen every movement of the troops. He says he was taken prisoner last March, and has been kept in the camp of the Indians ever since, until the Custer massacre. He says Sitting Bull organized his forces not to fight the whites, but to drive miners from the Black Hills. Previous to Custer's attack, mounted couriers from Sitting Bull's camp had

FOR EIGHT DAYS WATCHED HIS FORCES

Its division into small detachments being noted with manifestations of extreme delight. Preparations for ambuscades were immediately made and while the Indians stood ready for attack many of them clambered on the side-hills over-looking Custer's line of march. The Indian camp was divided by a bluff, the point of which ran toward Rosebud, and in the direction of one of the available fords on the river to the camp. By this ford Custer followed their trail down to the water's edge. There were but twenty-five tepees visible to Custer, but there were seventy five double tepees behind the bluff not visible.

CUSTER ATTACKED THE SMALL VILLAGE,

And was immediately met by fifteen hundred or two thousand Indians, in regular order of battle. Every movement was made with military precision. Ridgeley says he stood on the side of a hill where he had a complete view of the battle, which was not over half a mile distant. Custer began the fight in a ravine near the ford, and fully half of his command seemed to be unhorsed at the first fire. Then the soldiers retreated toward a hill in the rear, where they were shot down on the way with astonishing rapidity, the commanding officer falling from his horse in the middle of the engagement, which commenced at 11 A. M. and did not last more than forty-five minutes. After the massacre the Indians returned to camp with six soldiers as prisoners, and were delirious with joy over their success.

THESE SIX SOLDIERS WERE TIED TO STAKES AT A WOOD PILE

In the village, and all were burned to death. While the flames were torturing them to death, Indian boys fired red-hot arrows into their quivering flesh until they were dead. Sitting Bull was met after the fight, and he exultantly remarked that he had killed many soldiers and one d—— general, but that he did not know who he was. The squaws then armed themselves with knives and visited the battle-field and robbed and mutilated the bodies of the dead soldiers. While the six soldiers were being burned, the Indians turned their attention to a force, evidently Reno's attacking the lower end of the village. Ridgely says Custer's command had been slaughtered before a shot was fired by Reno's force attacking the lower end of the camp. The Indians returned in the evening and said their men had fought like the devil, but Ridgely says they did not make a statement of their losses. They said the soldiers had been driven back twice, and they piled up stones, and the attack was unsuccessful.

THE PRISONERS WERE KEPT BURNING OVER AN HOUR,

But Ridgely was not permitted to speak to them, and he was unable to state who they were. One was noticeable from from his small size and gray hair and whiskers. Reno killed more Indians than Custer, who fell in the midst of the fight, and two Captains believed to be Gates and Keogh, were left to die. The night after the massacre the Indians were wild with delight. Many were drunk with whiskey stolen from the whites, and the squaws performed the duty of guards over the prisoners. They becoming drowsy Ridgely and his two companions escaped, securing ponies, and began the long journey homeward. The party ate game and lay in the woods four days to avoid the Indians. On the way Ridgely's horse stumbled, breaking his arm, but the party finally reached Fort Abercrombie, and from thence Ridgely came here. He describes Sitting Bull as a half-breed of large size very intelligent, and with a peculiar gait.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

At the request of Senator Mitchell, the Custom House Inspectorship at Yaquina, Oregon, has been reestablished.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon, has accepted an invitation from the Republican State Central Committee of Ohio to speak at Alliana to-morrow.

Last night Carl Schurz spoke to an audience of about 3,000 Germans in McCormick Hall, Chicago. There was a torchlight procession of 5,000 or 6,000 men formed during the evening, and they marched about town with transparencies, colored and calcium lights, etc.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the German-American Independent Association at Chicago last night, a resolution was adopted to appoint a Committee of Three to issue an address to the voters of the city, requesting that the name of John Kelly be struck from the electoral ticket.

Slosson and Sexton Wednesday evening at Chicago played the remaining 500 points on their 1,000 points billiard game, Slosson winning the second portion as well as the first. He made 500 to-night to Sexton's 458. The whole score stands: Slosson, 1,000, Sexton, 898. Slosson's average, both nights, 27; Sexton's 17. Sexton made the extraordinary run to-night of 272 points. The game was played on a 5x10 table.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Jack and Jill."

A GOOD NOMINATION.

The Democratic State Convention of Massachusetts has nominated Charles Francis Adams for Governor. If there was any prospect of success for that party it would not have nominated Adams. But there is no other man who can so well afford to be defeated. He is not popular with many Democrats for various reasons; one of which is that he's not much of a Democrat himself. In fact he belongs to the aristocracy of intellect, clean shirts, and a staunch old family with a good deal of Federalist blood in his veins. And yet the nomination is in some degree creditable to the Democrats. They have nominated a man who is really not of them, but who belongs to one of the most illustrious families in Massachusetts. He is a man with no elements of personal popularity—a stiff, uncompromising man, courageous, exclusive in his associations, having blue blood in excess. But withal a pure, high-minded man who never stooped to do a mean thing; and probably at no time would have crossed a street to secure the nomination for the Presidency. Adams is much more of a man than Rice, the Republican candidate for Governor; although the latter is a good and true man who will probably be elected over his opponent by a large majority. If the Democrats had nominated Adams for the Presidency he would not have been amenable to any such unfavorable criticism as that to which Tilden has been subjected. The former would have disdained to touch any party machinery. He would have stood on his dignity as a man utterly without reproach. The Republicans can say nothing against him. Adams is an Independent; and if he had more genius and more ambition, might long before this have headed a powerful independent movement. But he knows nothing about political leadership, and cares nothing for it. He made one of the ablest of all the ministers sent to Europe. Yet he incurred the displeasure of the "Fenians" because he did not espouse their cause and protest against the punishment of some of their men.

Yet Adams is a man of great courage, as was manifest by his course during the late war. No man in the country could have rendered a better diplomatic service than Adams rendered at the Court of St. James. He will not be Governor of Massachusets, and the Democrats who nominated him will give him the strength of their party by five thousand votes. The trouble this time is that it is not a bad nomination, but one so good as to be unpopular with the party which has made it.

THE SHADOW OF WAR.

The dispatches contained in the TRIBUNE last evening strongly indicated the breaking out of a European war on an extensive scale. Turkey declines to grant an armistice by which the Servians would have the advantage of gathering more troops and a season of rest. The latter has been whipped, and Turkey is not disposed to lose this advantage. Russia insists on the armistice and will aid Servia in case it is not granted. England also points out the danger of a refusal. If the war goes on Russia takes a hand in it. This will involve to a large extent the interests of the other great powers. If Russia is really committed to a war it will result in one for a new division of Turkish territory. That will never be obtained without hard fighting. The question will not be left for Turkey and Russia alone to settle. England has a powerful fleet near Constantinople, and Germany will be no disinterested spectator of this fight. Austria will also figure prominently in the future settlement of the Turkish question. So much may be safely predicted. If Russia actually gets into a war with Turkey the former will try hard to realize the aspirations of the last forty years. If the result should be favorable, a new map of Europe would be necessary. It may be noted also that with the exception of a low financial system, which has been the chronic condition of Turkey, she is otherwise in good fighting trim. She has a large and effective army and a powerful navy.

The incidental benefits of a European war would be a large increase in the price of breadstuff, and a revival of trade in nearly all channels. After a war comes stagnation—a period of rest. It was so after the German-French war, and after the civil war in this country. War is an abnormal condition. The stimulus to business is great; but it is not healthy, and it always results in over production. The gains of war are pretty well balanced by the losses. A great European war will have less adverse effects in the United States than in any other country. But we have not yet recovered from the depression brought about in part by the war between France and Germany. Much less have we recovered from the late civil war.

THE fare by railroad, between San Francisco and Los Angeles is $20. It is a higher rate than the public anticipated; $15 would have been nearer the mark. However, it is a long route, and the road for some time to come will not pay any profit. There is still a choice of routes. Steamers will take passengers as usual. The saving of time by rail will be an important item to business men.

ANOTHER large private bank is about to be opened in San Francisco. Lazard, Freres & Co., well known merchants, have been arranging for this bank for a year or more. It is said that the bank will have a capital of $5,000,000. The managers having been merchants of good standing it is hoped that the bank will be of real benefit to the mercantile community.

THE quickest passage ever made by a steamship between Hong Kong and San Francisco was that made by the "City of Peking" just arrived—22½ days from port to port, and 15½ days from Yokohama. This is one full day shorter than the famous passage made by the English steamer "Oceanic." The Peking also brought a large cargo.

OVERLAND ARRIVALS TO-NIGHT.

CONDENSED COAST DISPATCHES.

The Mayor and Chief of Police of Virginia City are at loggerheads. Yesterday they nearly came to blows.

The new water company at Santa Cruz is busy tearing up Pacific avenue, preparatory to laying down the pipes.

On Tuesday evening last the Hayes and Wheeler Club of Santa Cruz, chartered two cars of the Felton Railroad and proceeded to Felton to organize a club. Addresses by E. A. Bolton, W. R. Story and E. L. Williams.

The Pauper hoisting works and three hundred and fifty cords of wood were burned at Silver City, Idaho, Wednesday night. The origan of the fire is unknown. Heavy weather has prevailed for the last few days in this vicinity.

At a meeting recently held at Ben Lomond to organize a Democratic club, the following named officers were chosen: A. L. Rountree, President; Thos. Burns and C. Granger, Vice-Presidents; Thos. Burns, Jr., Secretary; P. Thompson, Corresponding Secretary. Over thirty names were obtained.

There is some excitement at Davenport Landing, Santa Cruz, on the fact Mr. Reis is trying to obtain a franchise to build a new and better wharf, the present one being of no account. There is a great deal of wood, bark, produce, etc., waiting shipment. Petitions are circulating stating that if the franchise is obtained the Goodall & Perkins steamships will call regularly.

The election for Supervisor of District No. 2, in Merced County, occurred Wednesday. The Independent candidate, W. G. Quigley, who was indorsed by the Republican Club of Merced, defeated the Democratic nominee by a majority of 126. More interest was taken in this election than in any previous one. Every available voter was voted, and as large a number of votes was polled as at any general election.

Charges are made against Isidore Bocy, of the Virginia City prison, which implicate him in the grave mismanagement of the place, such as stripping women naked in the presence of men, lodging prostitutes in his room, keeping men and women in the same cell, and bad treatment, such as keeping food from prisoners, bucking and gagging men and tying them up by the thumbs. A special meeting of the Commissioners has been called to investigate the charges.

THE DIRECTORS OF THIS COMPANY have selected this tract of land as in their opinion the best adapted in all respects for accessible, cheap and beautiful country homes, of any within their knowledge. Calling your attention to the following description of it, they confidently solicit your subscription in any number of shares, from one to one hundred. Yours truly,

A. J. BRYANT, President.
W. J. GURNETT, Vice-President.

This land is situated about eight miles from Oakland at the head of the San Pablo Valley, which is justly celebrated for the salubrity of its climate, its pure waters and natural beauties.

The San Pablo creek runs entirely through it, from South to North. Into this creek flow numberless smaller streams of clear, pure water, the banks of all affording the most elegant building sites possible to imagine. The great California necessity—plenty of cheap, pure water—is here as pure and plentiful as the air we breathe, and can never be wrested from us by any monopoly.

Its topography is gracefully undulating. The soil is rich and mellow. Natural shade trees abound.

We have also Mineral Springs, whose waters possess the medicinal qualities peculiar to the celebrated Lytton, Gilroy and Harbin Springs, heretofore neglected because so nearlhome.

Within five years it will be reached by railroad in sixty minutes from San Francisco.

It will possess a Hotel equal to any outside of that city, and, surrounded by hundreds of beautiful homes, will become the greatest resort for all in search of health or pleasure.

We believe this land, now offered at Fifty Dollars per Acre, will at that time readily sell for five hundred.

Subscriptions will be received in San Francisco, by BRYANT & TAYLOR,

THE COUNTY TREASURY.

How Alameda County Coin is Guarded.

The Checks Upon Dishonesty on the Part of the Treasurer.

The Shrewd Precautions Taken Against the Depredations of Burglars.

Every few months the telegraph brings the news that a County Treasury somewhere has been robbed, or county funds in some more mysterious manner has got into wrong hands. Occessionally a Treasurer is called upon by a depitation of burglars in the night time, the terrified official taken from his warm bed and carried to the Treasury vault, and there under threats of instant death he is forced to open the combination locks, and yield up the county's coin or greenbacks, as the case may be. Often these transactions are fictitious, clumsy devises to hide the peculations of the officer, and enable him to account for missing money; and even when the stories are genuine it frequently happens that a dark cloud of suspicion rests ever afterward on the head of the Treasurer thus robbed. Some account of how the public money entrusted to the care of the Alameda County Treasurer is cared for will be of interest to our readers.

THE TREASURER'S OFFICE

Is a capacious, well-arranged room on the first floor, in the southeast corner of the Court House, a portion of the room being set apart for the use of the Tax Collector's business, now performed by the Treasurer. We may as well describe first the mechanical devices for the safe-keeping of the coin and bonds—the safe-guards against destruction by fire and against the machinations of thieves and expert burglars. In the first place but a small amount of money is kept in sight for the transaction of ordinary business. It is piled on a stand or pedestal about the shape and size of

A TALL MUSHROOM,

Or a wash-stand placed several feet inside the counter, entirely out of reach of persons outside the counter, and is constantly under the eye of Mr. Palmer and his deputy. A thief would have to be mighty tall and long in the arms to reach it by leaning over the counter. The largest portion of the coin and valuable papers on hand is kept in one of Kettredge's fire and burglar-proof iron safes in the back part of a massive burglar and fire-proof vault off a little alcove just behind the Treasurer's business office. It would seem a matter of impossibility almost for any set of burglars to effect an entrance into this vault within the hours of a single night, even if they could work undisturbed and without danger of discovery. To pick the lock of either the vault or safe is simply a mechanical impossibility.

THE SAFE AND VAULT.

The Kittredge safe is absolutely fire-proof, and as nearly burglar-proof as any that have yet been manufactured. In this strong box all the coin is placed at night, and locked with a combination lock. The combination can be varied with as many changes as can be rung on eighty numbers, which a reference to the rule of arithmetical progression will readily show could be rendered tolerably intricate. There is no key hole into which to introduce dynamite or any other explosive material to do the work. The combination, of course, is known only to Mr. Palmer and his Deputy, P. H. Borein.

THE INNER IRON DOORS.

The next item of security is the arrangement of two strong iron doors, which swing together and are hung in the entrance way of the vault about eighteen inches inside the outer door. They are of chilled iron, and when closed are held by eight powerful bolts shot into iron sockets let into the solid masonry. A combination lock, which also can be varied up to eighty numbers, renders it a formidable barrier to the ingress of burglars. In addition to these obstacles which would baffle all ordinary styles of burglarizing, and put even a Jack Sheppard at fault, there is last but not least the

MASSIVE OUTSIDE DOOR

Of the vault, which is constructed of steel as hard as can be manufactured. When closed and locked, it is held fast by twelve heavy steel bolts. These are shot into their proper receptcles by a simultaneous movement of combined levers, by the turn of an iron knob projecting on the outside of the door—in the center. As soon as this knob is turned properly and the bolts shot in place a lock is turned which shoots a separate bolt in such a way as to absolutely prevent the withdrawal of the others except by the automatic action of one of the most ingenious pieces of mechanism ever invented. It is called a

TIME LOCK.

It is worked in this way: The clock consists of two dials enclosed in a heavy brass case bolted against the inside face of the door. When the Treasurer or Deputy is about to close the office for the night, he winds up this clock say at 5 o'clock P. M., to run for sixteen hours, and turns a pointer to the hour of 9 o'clock, as in the case of an ordinary alarm clock. At o'clock, then, on the following morning, this ingenious piece of mechanism automatically withdraws this bolt and allows the withdrawal of the other bolts by turning the outside knob, and the door can then be unlocked and opened. Should the Treasurer desire to open the vault at ten minutes before 9 o'clock, or at any other time before that hour, he cannot do so. He would be as

HELPLESS AS A BURGLAR,

For the clock cannot be touched or tampered with from the outside. In case Mr. Palmer's residence or that of Borein should be invaded, and either or both of them be taken to the office by burglars in the night and ordered to open the vault, it would do the burglars no good. These officials would be just as powerless as the other rascals, and their trouble would be for nothing. On Saturday evenings the clock is set to withdraw the bolt on Monday morning—that is, the vault is impregnable even to the Treasurer himself for a space of forty hours, and no "shenanigan" can take place on the holy Sabbath any more than on a week day. In addition to these precautions against burglars and thieves, a night watchman has charge of the Court House every night and during Sundays, and he is required to visit the Treasurer's office every half hour, and also the other county offices. They have

SURE THING ON HIM,

Too, by another ingenious mechanical combination which is worth describing. It is also a time-piece, and works in this way: It is a round brass box, about five inches in diameter across the face, and two inches high. No dial is seen from without, and it can only be opened with a peculiar key. In each office hangs a different key. The watchman carries the brass box with him into the Treasurer's office say at 12 midnight, inserts the Treasury key into a peculiar slit in one side of the box and gives it one turn. The exact hour and second of time this is done is recorded inside on a paper dial by a thin puncture of a little sharp metalic point. In the other offices are different keys for the same purpose, differing only in length. If the watchman misses a trick he cannot tamper with the clock and make up for lost time. The exact time of his visit is recorded and cannot be changed.

AN ADDITIONAL SAFEGUARD.

As an additional precaution, the Treasurer does not keep a very large amount of coin on hand, but puts the greatest part of it for safe-keeping in the various banks of this city. This greatly lessens the risk of losing any large amount. Even if the extraordinary safeguards at the Treasury vaults should be beaten by experts, only a small portion of the county's money would skedaddle up the flume; and in case either one of the Oakland banks should be successfully burglarized, or the money otherwise take a walk, but a small portion of the county money would be lost, and that the stockholders will have to make good.

A MISTAKEN GRAND JURY.

The last Grand Jury, laboring under am impression, doubtless derived from something they had seen in the newspapers about the time of our last charter election, about Judge Stanley arraigning the Treasurer of San Francisco and compelling him to withdraw State and County Fund from the bank of California, "went after" Mr. Palmer with an exceeding great go after, for putting the County money in the keeping of the banks. His authority is the following section of the Civil Code:

SECTION 4161. The County Treasurer must keep all moneys belonging to this State or to any county of this State in his own possession until disbursed according to law. He must not place the same in the possession of any person, to be used for any purpose: nor must he loan or allow any person to use the same except as provided by law; but nothing in this section prohibits him from making special deposits for the safe keeping of the public moneys.

Of course the money thus specially deposited is not allowed to be used and speculated with by the banks.

THE YACHT-CLUB RAGETTA.

The Seventh Anniversary Race To-Morrow—List of Vessels Entered—The Prizes and Other Details.

The Seventh anniversary of the San Francisco Yacht Club takes place to-morrow, and hundreds of Oaklanders will turn out to witness the ragetta, which will be one of the most exciting contests ever had on this coast.

VESSELS ENTERED.

Following is a list of yachts entered for the race:

No.	Name.	No.	Name.
SCHOONERS.
1	Cousins	5	Minnie
2	Azalene	6	Lotus
3	Consuelo	7	Virgin
4	Pearl
SLOOPS.
8	Emerald	10	Ariel
9	Idler	11	Enid

To distinguished the yachts a number corresponding with the number in the list will be placed on the mainsail of each.

The signal for the yachts to prepar for the start will be a gun fired from Long Bridge wharf, five minutes before 1 o'clock, and a second gun fired at 1 o'clock will be the signal for starting.

An allowance of 45 per foot on the water line will be made for difference of length of the yachts.

The race shall be run over on a day to be appointed by the regatta Committee.

THE COURSE.

The course will be from Long Bridge to a stake-boat off Hunter's Point; thence to a stake-boat off Oakland bar; thence to a stake-boat off Government wharf, Fort Point, and thence back to Oakland bar, to Hunter's Point and to any imaginary line drawn from Long Bridge wharf to Mission Rock.

THE PRIZES.

The prizes will be—to the winning yacht, the flag, and the first race for the Ashbury tankard, for the possession of which a yacht must win it in two consecutive races. The second prize is the "Freda Silver Punch Bowl." This was won at the Centennial Regatta of the San Francisco Yacht Club by the United States yacht "Freda," and donated to the Club to be again contested for, as the rules of the United States service forbid their retaining it. These prizes are now on exhibition at the American Clock Company's store in Lick Block.

Ex-Governor Pacheco's new yacht "Consuelo" will test her sailing qualities for the first time. Commodore Eckley's new schooner "Pearl," which developed excellent sailing qualities at the Centennial regatta, will make a strong effort to secure the first prize, which her accomplished owner never failed to secure when he sailed the sloop "Emerald."

It is understood that the "Peabody" and other fleet yachts will test their sailing qualities with the vessels of the Club.

"THERE ARE MANY AGREABLE peculiarities in the climate of Oakland, among which may be noted the fact that any matrimonial unions that have not been prolific of "little darlings" elsewhere, have, on the removal of the parties to Oakland been blessed with a "quiver full of them," as is demonstrated by the number of high chairs, cradles etc., sold by Shellhaas, Eleventh street, Odd Fellows' Building.

From R. Fellows, M. D., of Hill, N. H.

Although I have generally a great objection to patent medicines, I can but say in justice to DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY that it is a remedy of superior value for Pulmonary Diseases. I have made use of this preparation for years and it has proved to be very reliable and efficacious in the treatment of severe and long standing Coughs. I know of one patient, now in comfortable health who has taken this remedy, and who but for its use would not now be living. R. FELLOWS, M. D.

Riots at Charleston, South Carolina.

REDUCTION OF RAILROAD FARE TO THE CENTENNIAL.

The Prison Question Discussed.

SARATOGA, September 8th.—The Social Science Association to-day discussed the International Penitentiary Congress, which was highly approved. Captain W. Talbot Hervey, Governor of the Model Prison at Brixtow, England, gave an interesting account of the working of the system in use there, and how it had served to suppress crime and to induce criminals after one term there to seek honest employment. He also gave an account of the ticket-of-leave system. In his prison various kinds of mechanical work are done, as well as willow-work and oakum picking. Another prison made twenty million of bricks in a year. The prisoners can shorten their terms by good conduct, and are assisted by an Aid Society after their discharge. Terrorism and undue harshness on the part of keepers are not permitted. The speaker was for six years Governor of the Portsmouth prison, and in the last three years, with 1,300 prisoners, he saved the Government £12,000 yearly over the expenses. In prisons where miscellaneous work is carried on, the success is not so great, because all the prisoners are not able-bodied.

Reduction of Fare to the Centennial.

NEW YORK, September 8th.—At a Convention of General Ticket Agents to-day, the following, introduced by W. B. Shattuc, of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, was referred to the Convention this afternoon:

WHEREAS, The past has demonstrated the fact that rates on Centennial tickets are too high; therefore,

Resolved, That the rates on Centennial tickets be reduced to one full fare to New York and return and Philadelphia and return; that rates shall be one dollar less than to New York and return from Detroit to Toledo, Cleveland, Erie Line, Columbus or Cincinnati, or west or south thereof.

Resolved, That no line shall be permitted to sell round trip Centennial tickets unless they participate in the reduction on the basis of one full fare for the round trip.

The Riots in Charleston.

CHARLESTON, September 8th.—All night the Colored Militia and White Clubs remained at their places of rendezvous under arms. A party of passing blacks fired into the armory windows of the Montgomery Guard. The fire was returned. Excepting this and one or two other minor disturbances the streets were quiet after midnight. Public feeling continues excited, and the blacks talk of having a torchlight procession to-night. Efforts are being made to prevent it, as trouble will probably grow out of it. By the intervention of Congressman Small the strikers have been induced to disperse without further molestation of the laborers, who continue to work in the rice fields.

THE VERMONT ELECTION.

A Republican Majority of Over 25,000.

Attempted Homicide in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, September 7th.—A card has appeared in a morning paper, signed by Louis J. Sour, a prominent Republican politician, denouncing as false and malicious the statement published in the Times that he, in company with another man, had gotten up a district convention in a flat-boat, had hired some negroes to fire their guns in the air, and had then come back to New Orleans and averred that their convention had been forcibly broken up. Sour brands the man who penned those statements as a malicious falsifier. This afternoon he met a Times' reporter, named P. T. Smith, and attacked him by firing three or more pistol shots at him. Smith returned the fire, mortally wounding Sour.

The Indian Commissioners Reach Red Cloud Agency.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, (Neb.), September 6th.—Via Fort Laramie, Wyoming.—The Sioux Commission arrived here this afternoon, having left Fort Laramie on the 4th, with Captain Egan's cavalry as an escort. They saw no Indians on the way, and found everything quiet at the Agency, which is in charge of O. Eiting. General Mackenzie, Commander of the district, was present to receive the Commission, and said he would aid it by every means in his power. There is quite a large military force here, and the Indians are in a depressed state of mind in consequence of the concentration of troops at the Agency. They say they fear they are all to be massacred as soon as enough soldiers arrive. They hail the arrival of the Commission as the means of relief. Twenty or thirty lodges left Red Cloud recently for Spotted Tail Agency through fear of danger here. The Commissioners are anxious to proceed with the council without delay, and will lose no time; but of course they cannot say now when the council will be held.

Vermont Election.

BOSTON, September 7th.—Election returns from all but nine towns in Vermont show Fairbanks' majority over Bingham to be 24,585. These nine remaining towns in 1874 gave Peck over Bingham 263 majority. Fairbank's majority in the entire State cannot be far from 25,000; and for Lieutenant-Governor Procter's will probably reach 26,000. The legislature, so far as heard from, stands—House, 195 Republicans to 30 Democrats, 1 no choice. The thirteen towns to be heard from on legislative vote gave in 1874 nine Republicans and four Democrats. The Senate has not a single Democrat. In 1874 there were 50 in the House and 2 in the Senate.

THE EASTERN WAR.

A Russian-Turkish War Not Considered Imminent.

Formal Installation of the New Sultan.

THE WAR IN TURKEY.

Disturbing Rumors not Confirmed.

LONDON, September 7—There were a number of disturbing rumors from Berlin yesterday, but they were not confirmed from any other source, and it is believed they had a stock-jobbing origin. The opinion reported from Berlin to the Standard, that the outbreak of a Russian-Turkish war was unavoidable, is not entertained at other capitals. The Porte's refusal to grant an armistice is also confirmed, but it is thought to be unlikely, and it is believed the result of such a refusal would be an immediate resort to a formulation of terms of peace between Servia, Montenegro and Turkey, leaving the question of the insurrected provinces for subsequent settlement.

Probability of a Conference.

LONDON, September 7th.—The Time's Vienna correspondent, discussing the negotiations between the Powers, says: "With those who have been and still are for an armistice, the idea of a conference for the regulation of all pending questions is gaining ground more and more. The idea was first started by France, and seems to find support with its alley, Russia; the latter, however, not wishing to take the initiative in the matter. Those who are for taking in hand peace preliminaries simultaneously with an armistice, do not encourage the idea of a making a programme for such a conference. The fixing of that programme would, they think, take more time than an agreement on general principles of pacification, the details of which could be easily settled by the Ambassadors in Constantinople, in concert with the Porte. In the face of the many difficulties which pacification may yet present, a reassuring thing is the unanimous wish of all the Powers for peace, and therefore a sincere desire to avoid anything which might lead to a complication. As a sign of this, a communication made by Prince Gortschakoff in Warsaw, is making the round of diplomatic circles. It was made in a way which would show it was meant to become known, and is reported to be as follows: 'Russia wants rest for a number of years, and then, besides, the empire is desirous to have peace, and there is every ground to suppose that the other Powers are equally desirous to have it. At least, to judge by their assurances, we may reckon on their hearty co-operation with us in this direction.'"

The New Sultan Invested with the Sword of Osman.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 7th.—Abdul Hamet, the new Sultan, was to-day formally invested with the sword of Osman. All the Ministers were present.

The Porte Opposed to an Armistice at Present.

LONDON, September 7th.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg states that the Porte, replying to the European Ambassadors, in favor of peace, said that in the present military situation an armistice was opposed to its interest. The Porte, however, at the same time held out the hope of a speedy proposal conditions of peace.

SAN FRANCISCO BREVITIES.

The trial of Charles Jost, proprietor of the Antioch Distillery, is in progress in the United States Circuit Court.

Upward of $30,000 has been collected since Monday for the rebuilding of the German Hospital. Eighteen individuals of firms have subscribed $500 each.

The old house of Lazard Freres, formerly importers, have retired from that business, and on Monday next open a general banking house on California street, near Sansome.

The steamship City of Peking, which arrived yesterday from Hongkong and Yokohama, made the passage from the latter port in the unparalleled short time of 15 days and 11 hours.

At a meeting of the San Francisco Presbytery this week it was decided to await the decision of the Nineteenth District Court in the Dawson case before taking further action in the matter.

Archbishop Alemany has extended to General Vallejo an invitation to deliver an oration on the 8th of October next, the anniversary of the founding of the mission to San Francisco, by the Franciscan Friars, then under the guidance of Father Junipero Serra.

The children suffering from the small-pox in the Catholic Orphanage at South San Francisco, are rapidly improving under the assiduous attention of the Sisters in charge. A hospital has been completed at some distance from the main building, for the purpose of isolating the patients from the other inmates.

In consequence of the change of time of the vacation week of the San Francisco schools, from the 25th to the 18th inst., the State Educational Convention will meet on Tuesday the 18th inst., and continue during the week. Appearances indicate that the Convention will be a success, notwithstanding the unexpected change in the time of meeting.

ALAMEDA ITEMS.

The Town valuation this year is $2,250,000, a gain of $800,000 over last year.

The Alameda and Piedmont street railroad will soon be extended to Park street.

The project of a good water supply has a buoyant effect on the real estate market.

No town licenses thus far have been imposed upon any business except saloon keeping.

The Board of Trustees are considering the subject of enacting a general license ordinance.

The Turners who assembled from all parts of the State at Scheutzen Park for their three-days festival composed one of the largest gatherings ever assembled in Alameda, renowned as the town is for large gatherings from abroad. They were also exceedingly well-behaved and gave the police no trouble.

Another Oakland Mining Enterprise.

The Hurricane Mining Company located near Oreana, Nev., near and adjoining the celebrated Montezuma mines of which we made a short notice a few days since, has, since the 19th of July last, shipped one hundred and seventy tons of base bullion to Messrs. Balbach & Sons, Omaha. During this time only fourteen running days were lost, which time was mostly spent in repairing the furnaces. Their average run now is five tons per day of bullion which carries about one hundred ounces of silver to the ton. The developement and successful working of these valuable silver deposits is largely due to the efforts of Mr. B. F. Bivins, an Oakland gentleman well known in mining circles as a hearty worker for the developement of Eastern Nevada mines.

CONSCIENCE AND FUTURE JUDGMENT

I sat alone with my conscience,
In a place where time had ceased,
And we talked of our former living
In the land where the years increased.
And I felt I should have no answer
The question it put to me,
And to face the answer and question
Throughout an eternity.
The ghosts of forgotten actions
Came floating before my sight,
And things that I thought were dead things
Were alive with a terrible might.
And the vision of all my past life
Was an awful thing to face—
Alone with my conscience sitting
In that silently solemn place.
And I thought of a far away warning,
Of a sorrow that was to be mine,
In a land that then was the future,
But now is the present time.
And I thought of my former thinking
Of the judgment day to be,
But sitting alone with my conscience
Seemed judgment enough for me.
And I wondered if there was a future
To this land beyond the grave;
But no one gave me answer,
And no one came to save.
Then I felt that the future was present,
And the present would never go by,
For it was but the thought of my past life
Grown into eternity.
Then I woke from my timely dreaming,
And the vision passed away,
And I knew the far away warning
Was a warning of yesterday—
And I prayed that I may not forget it,
In this land before the grave,
That I may not cry in the future,
And no one come to save.
And so I had learnt a lesson
Which I ought to have known before,
And which, though I learnt it dreaming,
I hope to forget no more.
So I sit alone with my conscience
In the place where the years increase,
And I try to remember the future
In the land where time will cease.
And I know of the future judgment,
How dreadful so'er it be,
That to sit alone with my conscience
Will be judgment enough for me.

ROBBERS FOILED.

Heroic Conduct of Bank Officers.

[SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.]

NORTHFIELD (Minn.), September 7th.—About two o'clock this afternoon eight men, well mounted, entered the town and proceeded to the bank. Three entered it, sprang over the counter and ordered the Cashier, J. L. Haywood, with a knife to his throat, to open the vault. At the same time all the persons in the bank, A. E. Bunker, Assistant Cashier, and Frank Wilcox clerk, were ordered to hold up their hands. Mr. Haywood refusing to obey their orders and open the money vault, his neck was slightly scratched with a knife; and still refusing, one of the robbers put the muzzle of a pistol to his left temple and fired. Haywood fell dead. Then turned to Mr. Bunker and ordered him to open the vault. He said he did not know the combination. As the robbers made a demonstration toward him he ran out at the back door, when they fired at him, shooting him through the shoulder. Mr. Wilcox was not interfered with. While this was transpiring within people without were doing good work. Two of the robbers were killed outright, and one wounded. The wounded man was taken away by his confederates. One of their horses was killed and one captured. The robbers did not get into the vault, nor did they find the cashier's draw. Four of the eight men came to town before midday and went on the north side of the bridge till they came into town from Dundes. The men were well mounted and armed with navy revolvers, with cartridges in a belt around their bodies. When the robbers crossed the bridge entering the town, they drew their revolvers, and putting their horses into full gallop, dashed through the streets, calling to the people on the walks to keep inside, ornamenting their shouts with the most fiendish curses and imprecations. While the three men were engaged in the bank, the others stood on the street threatening to shoot any one who interfered, and fired several harmless shots. A band of fifty citizens was organized and started in pursuit. At last accounts the robbers were only 25 minutes ahead of their pursuers, and almost sure to be overtaken.

A Chicago Wife.

Not long ago a married woman on Pine street, Chicago, asked her husband for a new Summer hat and suit, so that she could make that hateful creature in the next block see that there were other people besides her ladyship that could dress decently. Owing to the stringency of the money market he declined to fall in with her overtures. She did not press the subject, but a few days afterward she came to his side, and leaning her head softly on his shoulder, said: "Darling, if you were to be hit on the head with a hammer, or something of the kind, so that it wouldn't kill you, but hurt you a good deal, and put you out of your mind, wouldn't they make me your guardian and administratrix?"

"Very probably they would, pussy," he replied, fondling her golden curls, "but what a funny question for you to ask."

"And then," she continued; apparently not having heard the latter part of his sentence, "and then I could do all that I liked with things, and my name would be the same as yours at the bank and so on?"

"Certainly, pet," he responded, and she, giving him an affectionate embrace, hurried away. The thing somewhat perplexed him, but he dismissed it from his memory until very recently, when he met a hardware dealer of his acquaintance, who said: "Tell your wife I sent her the biggest hammer we had, but what in thunder did she want so large a hammer for?"

Then a cold sweat broke out all over that young man, and hastening home he told his wife he had collected a bad debt, and here were $130 for her to get that hat and suit with. And she kissed him and said she would not take it all, since times were so hard, and they must make every cent go as far as they could; but he insisted that she should, and she yielded like a dutiful wife, and when he had gone out she took the hammer from behind the washstand, sent it back to the hardware store, and told them she wouldn't need it, but to send her its worth in self-sealing preserve jars.

His Water Tax.

Some funny incidents occur at the City Hall in the payment of taxes, water rates, etc.

Among the crowd who were in attendance at the water register's office a short time ago, was an irate individual, evidently from one of the annexed wards, who, thrusting a brawny arm, to which was attached a tanned fist holding a water bill across the counter, growled:

"Look a' here. How's this? You have jest doubled up my bill of last year."

The Register himself happening to be in attendance, asked the name and address, and, being informed, turned to a page in a bulky book, and then said:

"What was your business last year, Mr. Chalker?"

"Provision dealer," said the surly one, gruffly.

"You do not follow the same business you did when your bill was half this amount?" said the bland official.

"No, I don't," said the complainant, not seeing the trap, and adding with a naivete which sent a widening smile over the office, "I am in the milk business, now."

The blonde moustache of the Register dropped a little closer over his mouth, as he closed the book and the conversation with the remark:

"We cannot charge you any less for water, Mr. Chalker, at the present price of milk."—Com. Bulletin.
